Bluetooth

In the frequency band of the Bluetooth® functions of 804SS, Industrial, scientific or medical equipments such as microwave ovens or in-house radio stations such as the ones used in production lines or by amateur radio stations (Referred to as "other radio stations" hereafter) are used. In order to prevent radio interference with other radio equipments, follow the points listed below in using handset.

- 1. Before using Bluetooth® functions, confirm there are no "other radio stations" operating near you.
- 2. In case there is a radio interference with "other radio stations", move to some other place or stop the Bluetooth® functions (Stop emitting the radio waves) immediately.
- 3. If you have any questions or problems with Bluetooth emissions, contact Vodafone as listed below:

Contact: Vodafone K.K. Customer Centre

From a Vodafone handset, dial 157 (toll free) for General Information. See "Customer Service" (◆ P.28-19) for landline numbers by service area.

804SS transmits on the 2.4 GHz band, employing frequency-hopping spread spectrum (FHSS) modulation, with resistance to radio frequency interference between 1.5 - 5 metres, depending on usage environment.

SAR Certification Information

804SS meets the technical standards of Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications (MIC) regarding radio wave absorption by a human body.

These technical standards are established on a scientific basis to prevent radio waves emitted from wireless devices such as mobile phones that are used close to human head from affecting human health. These standards assure that the SAR (Specific Absorption Rate), an indicator of the amount of average energy absorbed in the side of a human head, must not exceed the permissive value of $2W/kg^*$. This value includes a substantial safety margin designated to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age and physical size. The value is equal to the international guideline recommended by International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection (ICNIRP) that has a cooperative relationship with the World Health Organization (WHO).

The highest SAR value for 804SS is 0.221 W/kg. This value is obtained in accordance with the MIC testing procedure with the mobile phone transmitting at its highest permitted power level. While there may be differences in the SAR levels depending on phones, they all meet the MIC's permissible value. Because mobile phones are designed to employ the minimum power level required for the communication with the base station, the SAR of the phone during a call is usually below the maximum value.

For further information about SAR, please see the following websites:

MIC: http://www.tele.soumu.go.jp/j/ele/index.htm

ARIB: http://www.arib-emf.org/initiation/sar.html

* The guideline is defined by relevant laws and regulations associated with the Radio Law (No. 2 of Article 14 of Ordinance Regulating Radio Equipment.).

Continuous Standby Time (804SS closed, Sub Display off)	Approximately 290 hours (3G) Approximately 220 hours (GSM)

Maximum Output	0.2 W

- · 804SS with battery installed.
- Battery Time is calculated by Vodafone under stable signal conditions.
 Calling in poor signal conditions or leaving 804SS on out-of-range will consume more power and may reduce Battery Time by more than half.
- Frequent 804SS operations requiring Backlight (e.g., Vodafone live!) may reduce Continuous Talk Time and Continuous Standby Time.

- Using video for Wallpaper may significantly reduce Continuous Talking and Continuous Standby Times.
- Using V-applications may reduce Continuous Talking and Continuous Standby Times.
- Continuous Talk Time is an average measured with a new, fully charged battery in stable signal conditions. Continuous Standby Time is an average measured with a new, fully charged battery with 804SS closed without calls or operations, in Standby, in stable signal conditions.
 Alternating between usage and Standby shortens Continuous Talk Time and Continuous Standby Time. Talk Time/Standby Time may vary by environment (battery status, ambient temperature, etc.).
